POUGHKERPSIE, June 28.—The College Regatta Committee, representing Cornell, Pennsylvania, and Columbia, will meet at the Nelson House to-morrow night and draw positions for the freehman race on Wednesday. It is a rather curious coincidence that the crew rowing on the outside in the races last week was the winner, and the outcome of the tests this week will be watched with interest to see if the story will re-

As the time approaches for the triangular battles of Wednesday and Friday, much feeling is being shown by interested persons who are spreading the rumor that Cornell will not try to win so as to throw Harvard and Yale down harder, and to make the proposed dual arrangement ridiculous. Courtney has several times denied that he had any such card as this up his sleeve, but each denial only serves to add force to the gossip. A Yale "grad" said in front of

"I really believe that Cornell will not win this week, and I know why she won't win. But I want to say that if any such deal as this is put through it will only react on Cornell." I don't believe any of this talk," remarked a bystander.

"Well," insisted a Harvard man in the group, "why has Pennsylvania sprung into such audden prominence as a possible winner this week, when all along the papers have been speaking in the most pessimistic terms of her form

It can be said that before the race on last Friday Courtney and several of the Cornell athletic councils spoke of Pennsylvania as a formidable rival. This was before it was even dreamed that Cornell would beat Yale and Harvard so decisively.

There is no likelihood that any miracle will bring victory to Cornell this week. Her 'varsity eight has covered a mile in practice in the pheomenal time of 4 minutes 1-5 of a second. This time is announced on the authority of Courtney himself. Pennsylvania, in the best work her crews have done on the Hudson, has never approached this rate of speed. It seems likely that Pennsylvania will finish second on Friday and that Columbia may win the freshman race on Wednesday. The Columbia crews are showing improvement, and their work is said to be satisfactory to the athletic manage ment of the university; but several members of the 'varsity eight, notably Shattuck and Longacre, have been out of the boat on account of illness, and nobody knows when they may get up

Courtney says that the Cornell freshman eight is the poorest lot in the history of the university. He looks forward, however, to a better race on Wednesday than on Friday. It is on record here that freshman races are always fought out harder than the university contests and this is a strong argument in favor of the roposition to do away with four-mile contests This morning the three Cornell crews were out and, to the surprise of many, the second 'varsity boat the senior crew, Courtney explained this by saying that the crew was beginning to feel the reaction of the race on last Friday. The freshman crew rowed very raggedly. To-night the three crews were out again

They were started in one, two, three order, with the freshmen a length ahead of the second 'varsity, and the latter two lengths ahead of the first varsity. The tide was running flood, and the eights were sent off up stream under the ice of tights were sent off up stream under the lee of the west shore. The first 'varsity gained steadly on the second 'varsity and the latter on the freshmen. The 'varsity eights both rowed in perfect form, but the freshmen dropped strokes and did not keep the boat steady. There is no doubt that Courtney has a record breaker in either the first or second 'varsity.

Briggs, at stroke, is putting fust as much life and vim into his work as he did last week, and even if he does go stale there is Carter to take his place. Oddie is another good oarsman, who will succeed Spillman in case the latter decides that the interest of his crew demands his retirement. With sixteen good oarsmen to pick a crew from there is nothing in the situation to keep Courtney or any other Cornell man awake highs.

Andy Odea, the Australian coach of the University of Wisconsin, is spending a good deal of time in town watching the work of the crews. He is taiking all he can for an intercollegiate regatta. He said to-day that he heard there was opposition at Yale to Bob Cook, but in his opinion Yale could not get a better coach than Cook. Cook.

Cook.

The Peansylvania first 'varsity and freshman eights were out this morning, and Ward sent them on a five-mile pull. They paddled up the river and raced down with an even start. The 'varsity won out with lots of wind and strength to spare. The Pennsylvanians have been rowing five or six hours every day for two weeks. They have done double the work of any crew on the river except the Columbias, who have been putting in about the same amount. The former to-day hit the stroke up higher than either Cornell or Columbia, doing as high as thirty-six and thirty-seven. They have two inches more our inboard than Cornell and average about the same on the stroke, power being equal. After a poor trial this morning the freshmen had their rigging lowered, and this afternoon they received a lead of three lengths over the first varsity. In a two-mile stretch the senior crew was only able to make up two lengths. Up at the Columbia quarters Capt. Pressprich is quoted as saying that he believes his crew is equal in form and skill to the winning 95 crew. Capt. Pressprich is very popular, and his personality has gone a good ways in seconding the excellent coaching of J. B. Cowles. The boats to be used by Columbia in the races are of cedar. The varsity is 62 feet 3 inches long, 23 inches beam, and weighs 250 pounds. The freshman shell is almost a counterpart, save that it has a little less beam on account of the lighter weight beam, and weighs 250 pounds. The freshman shell is almost a counterpart, save that it has a little less beam on account of the lighter weight of the youngaters. The training of the regular 'varsity crew is as follows:

Rise at 7 o'clock, bath and exercise; breakfast at 7:30, walk until 9 and rest until 11; row three or four miles, including long spins with starts and sparts; rub down; dinner at 19:30, brief rest and then walk and rub down; to the beats again at 5; then row six or seven miles with a hard finish; another rub down and dinner at 6:30; a rest, a walk, and rub down; breathing exercise at 9:30; retire for the night at 10.

Coach Cowlee has devoted a large part of his timey of he crews and has high hopes for the blue and white this week. He has great faith in his stroke, which is the same used by Columbia back in the early eighties when he captained two victorious crews. It has a long body swing and slide, but the feature seems to be the quick hand work. The boat goes through the water with an easy motion and an almost total lack of hang. Columbia has had an advantage over the other colleges, as there have been no examinations to bother the oarsmen. The freshmen have done all their hard work and are now easing up for the race.

Coach Cowles refuses to express a positive opinion about the chances of either crew. The varsity is putting in long daily rows and will continue to ao so until the day of the race. Several alterations were made to-day by Webb, the best builder, in the seats of the shell used by the varsity. This boat has been carefully rigged and it is believed now fits the crew in every detail. The freshmen to-night made several pistolished starts and rowed mile stretches on time. The referee of the freshmen race will be George Muniford. The statistics of the contesting crews are as follows:

YACHTING.

Under blue skies, with here and there a fleecy cloud, while the waters of the Sound formed in southwest, the annual regatta of the Stamford Yacht Club was sailed yesterday. The start and finish line for the various classes was between Commodore Howard B. Smith's handsome steam yacht Haleyon and the channel buoy off the en-trance to Stamford harbor. On board the Halcyon were Commodore Smith, Fleet Captain Alfred S, Pitt, W. L. Baldwin, F. W. Bruggerhooff, E. C. Scofield, ex-Mayor of Stamford; J. H. Herbert, and Dr. I. F. Wardwell.

The course is triangular, a distance of ten nautical miles. It was sailed twice over by the thirty-footers and larger classes, while the small boats made the circuit only once. The feature boats made the circuit only once. The feature of the day was the contest between the Wasp and Syce, in which the former defeated her speedy rival by 9 minutes and 5 seconds. The Yaquero III, won from the Hern and Wawn in the special thirty-foot class, while the Shark again defeated the Astrore in the one-raters.

The proparatory signal was at 12:10 and live minutes later Capt. Lippitt's Wasp was the first over the line, with her starboard rail awash, and the Syce, with Fred Hoyt at the wheel, rushing along close to her weather quarter. The larger vessel, however, soon drew out from under the lee of the Syce and led during the remainder of the race. In the next division the Hera got over first, lufting close to the windward end of the line and followed by Vaquero III. Wawa, Madrine, Penelope, Ninita, Surprise, Carolina and Pyxle. The larger cats were started at 12:20 o'clock, the Dosoris II. being the first over the mark, with Quantuck close in her wake, and Volsung last. The Volsung, however, had the weather berth, and soon drew shead of her rivals. The twenty-footers and the smaller of the cabin cats were sent away at 12:25 o'clock, while at 12:30 o'clock the open boats started on their journey. The course for the first leg was a thrash to windward, the second a broad reach on the starboard tack, and after gybing around the outer mark the boats hauled sheets aft for the close reach for home. The larger boats were timed at the end of the first round as follows:

Wasp, 1:30:50; Wawa, 1:54:25; Carolina, 1:57:11; of the day was the contest between the Wasp Wasp, 1:80:55; 8yes, 1:87:29; Vaquero III., 1:52:84; Bera, 1:58:59; Wawa, 1:54:25; Carolina, 1:57:11; jurprise, 1:58:84.

The smaller boats finished at the end of this round as follows: Volsung, 2:09:50; Dosoris II., 2:12:21; Madrine, 2:15:35; Shark, 2:18:15; Pyxle, 2:18:33; Ninita, 2:18:52; Quantuck, 2:19:40; Penelope, 2:41:05; As-thore, 2:46:44; Ethel, 2:85:08; Vaquero, 2:40:20; Win or Lose, 2:23:40; P. K. Pigeon, 2:52:13; Jib, 8:16:49 The larger craft were timed at the finish in Surprise, 8:39:21.

The Jib, owned by W. I. Bradley, is by far the queerest looking boat of the year. Her must is stepped far aft, and her single sail is set on the stay leading from the stem head to the mast head, forming a large jib, which is her only sail. She sailed well, however, and was defeated by a trifle over thirteen minutes by the P. K. Pigeon. Summary:

Long Island Battroad Treatle Aftre.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., June 28.-Engineer Scully of the east-bound freight train on the Long Island Railroad discovered after he had left Mystic station this morning that the trestlework which spanned Forge River was on fire. He stopped a few hundred feet from it and the train stopped a few hundred feet from it and the train crew fought the fames for several hours. The trestlework is of yellow pine and is thirty feet above the water. The stringers and lies were badly burned and the rails were warped. It is supposed that the engine attached to train 68, which went west early in the morning, set the trestle on fire. Had it burned fifteen minutes longer the track would have been left hanging in midair. All trains cross the river now very slowly.

HEBRASKA'S NEXT CAMPAIGN. liver Men and Populists Arrange a Pas

LINCOLN, Neb., June 28 .- The free silver wing of the Democratic party of Nebraska was repre sented by twenty-four leaders at a banquet in Lincoln to-night. W. J. Bryan was the guest of

The occasion was the meeting of the State Central Committee of the Silver Democrats to arrange details for the next State Convention. Incidentally the members were supposed to meet a committee from the Populists and silver Republicans, effect fusion, map out a policy to be followed in the fall campaign, and agree upon the division of the offices to be filled Apparently this was accomplished with ease and satisfaction to all interested.

There was some grumbling among several Democrats who insisted that they should have the place on the ticket for Supreme Judge in consideration of having worked hard for the consideration of having worked hard for the party recently, but the Populists refused to yield unless the chief place on the ticket went to them. At Mr. Bryan's request the point was conceded.

The silver Republicans will have one nominee for State Regent and the silver Democrats the other. These are all the offices to be filled. Mr. Bryan delivered a short address in which he said that the cause of silver was growing every day; that it was the case in Nebraska, in particular, and that he would demonstrate the fact when the time came for him to stump the State a little later. He said the Republicans of the State were appealing to the National Committee to help them carry Nebraska, and that the necessary help was promised on the theory that if Bryan's own State should repudiate silver it would aid materially in the confusion of the bimetallists three years hence.

It was announced that the National Democrats, under the lead of J. Sterling Morton, would put a ticket in the field. This was greeted with cat calls. A committee was appointed, after a conference with the Republicans and Populists, representing the silver element in their parties, to meet with similar committees from those parties on July 8 to fix the place and time for the three State conventions. Fusion was agreed to and it was settled that the issue should be free silver along exactly the same lines as prevailed in the last national campaign.

WILLIS MEN CONFER.

Republican Statesmen Worried Over the Fed-

of the Republican statesmen in Brooklyn who train with the anti-Worth faction had a two hours' conference last evening in Tax Collector Appleton's office in regard to the Federal appointments which are expected to go to that city. City Works Commissioner Theodore B. Willis, Walter B. Atterbury, Geo. H. Roberts, and Revenue Collector Moore were among those who participated. The confer ence was probably called in consequence of cer tain information which Congressman Wilson brought on from Washington. It is understood brought on from Washington. It is understood that Congressman Wilson announced that Mr. Atterbury could without doubt get either the Immigration Commissionership, the naval office, or the Postmastership of Brooklyn.

It was clearly developed at the conference, it is said, that Mr. Atterbury would not take the Commissionership of Immigration under any circumstances, and that the place of Surveyor of the Port was the berth he was after.

He and his friends have determined to make a final effort to have the President recognize his claims to the Surveyorship. The chances of ex-Supervisorat-Large Thomas Fitche to pull off the Postmastership are said not to be so bright as they were a week or so ago, and his friends are already talking of nominating him for one of the big county offices. A statesman in the confidence of the Willis faction said last night:

"Matters are in a bad tangle, so far as these appointments are concerned. I think, however, that Andrew Jacobs is likely to land the Naval Office, and that when the County Convention comes around, there will be a harmony ticket, with Mr. Atterbury as the candidate for Register or County Clerk. The Worth men are sure to control the convention, and under no circumstances will they give Mr. Willis a place on the ticket, Under certain conditions Mr. Atterbury would prove acceptable and matters seem to be shaping themselves in that direction."

Moses J. Wafer Chosen to Succeed the Late Alderman Dunne. The Brooklyn Board of Aldermen gave an exhibition of non-partisanship yesterday in electing Moses J. Although the Republicans have a chosen over Jackson Wallace, a Republican, by a vote of 21 to 4.

Mr. Waler has had a good deal of experience in official life, having served as Inspector and Commissioner in the Fire Department, two terms in the Assembly, and an unexpired term in the Board of Aldermen. He was one of the members of the loard involved in the famous Columbian celebration scandal. Dunne, whom he succeeds, was a Democrat.

Like hundreds of others, these men will not take the trouble of formally resigning from the Union, or request the withdrawal of their political "power of attorney." They will simply treat them as though they had never been made. If the Citizens' Union would take the trouble to "purge their roll" now, it is said, they would find that considerably more than 50 per cent, of it is "rotten" and "fraudulent," as the Republicans whose names constitute the major part of it have experienced a change of heart. bers of the Ivy Club in that district, who had

Not only is there great reluctance on the part of any Republican to announce himself as a candidate for Governor, but it is impossible at present to find an available candidate for State Treasurer who is willing to risk the chance of an election on the Republican State ticket. The peculiar political muddle in this city to-day raises a doubt whether a benocratic Mayor will not succeed the present Republican incumbent of that office two years from now.

John Hagan, aged 34 years, of 27 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, who for nine years has been a trusted porter in the employ of Edward Miller & Co., manufacturer of lamps and brass goods at 28 and 30 West Broadway, was arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeant Kelly of Capt. O'Brien's squad for robbing the company.

As far back as a year ago the company dis covered that a large quantity of their goods had mysteriously disappeared and were unaccounted for on the books. A careful investigation, however, failed to reveal the cause of the leak, and among the numerous employees there was not a single one against whom suspicion was directed. Recently the further discovery was made that the firm's goods were being sold at prices con-

prices, and a still more thorough investigation

After Hagan had been locked up, Detective Sergeant Kelly and the manager of the company went to Brooklyn and put themselves into communication with the police authorities. Last night Detective Sergeants Harrington and Ruddy went to the Myrile avenue store and arrested Friedner and his seventeen-year-old son, Benjamin Freidner, and also carted to Police Headquarters a wagon load of the company's goods, which Friedner admitted having purchased from Hogan.

Young Friedner is the driver of the delivery wagon in the trips between the West Broadway factory and the Myrtle avenue fence. The firm was much surprised at Hagan's acts. Next week he was to go on a two weeks' vacation at the expense of the firm in recognition of his supposed fidelity to its interests.

No estimate has been placed on the amount of the stealings, but they are believed to have been going on for four or five years, and they will probably reach $3,000 or $4,000.

BRYANITES GET TOGETHER

THE SUN, TUESDAY, OCHE DE 199

FOR EARLY NOMINATION OF A

Young Democracy of New York Addressed by Members of the United Democracy of Brooklyn-No Alliance with Tammany if Tammany Follows Sheehau's Programme

At the organization last night at the Murray Hill Lyceum of the County Committee of the Young Democracy, the purpose was declared to nominate a Democratic ticket for the coming municipal campaign on the Chicago platform at an early date, without regard to the wishes of the men who control the regular Democratic organizations. The first intimation of this Intention was conained in a resolution offered by John J. Murphy providing for the appointment of a committee "to confer with other organizations and associations in the boroughs embraced in the Greater New York, who are favorable to the principles of the Democratic party as set forth in the platform of the National Convention held in Chicago, in July, 1896; the purpose of the conference to relate to anity of action on the part of loyal Democrats, to make suitable provisions for conventions for the nomination of candidates for Greater New York and its several boroughs, and to determine the representation of various districts and or-ranizations in conventions to be held. This was coupled with another resolution make suitable preparations for any contingency which may arise." The resolution further diswhich may arise." The resolution further disputed the right of any organization which may gnore the principles of the party in the coming contest to use the Democratic emblem on the official ballot.

Mr. Murphy made a little speech in which he said he hoped this would not be construed as a threat by anybody, as it was only intended as "a warning to those who claim to control the Democratic party organization in the Greater New York that unless they stand true to the profession of Democratic faith as embedied in the Chicago platform there will be another organization in the field which will have a ticket of its own."
Several leaders of the radical Bryan party in Several leaders of the radical Bryan party in Several leaders of the radical Bryan party in Kings county who assisted in the organization of the United Democracy in that county last week were present and made speeches. One of them was the President, Robert Stewart.

"I come to you," he said, "with a message from Democrats whose votes must elect a Democratic Mayor if a Democrat is to be elected. It is that there is strength in unity and weakness in disorganization. We must unite in one compact organization all the bands of faithful men who support the principles of the Chicago platform for combined and harmonious action in the coming campaign. The issues of the party as canuclated at Chicago must not be put on the shelf to suit the convenience of a few men whose only concern is the holding of a few local offices. The fight must be maintained on the lines of 1896 until the victory is achieved. We are told that we must go into the eampaign on local issues. Why? So the traitors who betrayed us last year will be in a position in the party to betray us again. We are not to be caught with such bail. We will not ally ourselves with or assist any party which nominates a ticket without indorsing the Chicago plutform, nor will we support any Democratic principles last year."

Mr. Stewart invited the Young Democracy to conference and said that Kings county's Bryanites are ready to meet them at any time. His remarks were willly cheered.

A. B. Cruikshank, President of the Kings County Democratic League, another of the invited orators, began his address by urging the nomination of "a loyal Bryan Democrat for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals."

Among other things Mr. Cruikshank said were: "We don'! want to spend our time talking about what Jefferson is not so good a man as Hryan. Jefferson is dead, but Bryan Is alive and fighting the battle for industrial freedom. But Jefferson is not so good a man as Hryan. Jefferson is dead, but Bryan Is alive and fighting the battle for industrial freedom. There are few more steps for us to take before we reach the broad plateau of

of sub-committees ex-officio.

A declaration was adopted for the Chicago platform and a Chicago platform ticket and for municipal ownership of franchises. It denounced trusts and class legislation, deprecated imported pauper labor, condemned political bossism, and especially denounced the goldbug Democrats.

Democrats.

Ex-Sheriff James O'Brien made a plea for orgunized labor to unite with the Bryan Democrats in nominating a ticket, and ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall made a speech specially devoted to democration of Mayor Strong's administration. He sprung the name of Supreme Court Justice Gaynor as a Mayoralty candidate. It was cheered to the c-ho.

There were about 800 persons present at the meeting, including a large Brooklyn contingent.

BRYANITES' HARMONY. They Sought for It in Vain About a Board That ELIZABETH, June 28.-The Bryanites of the Union county Democracy made an attempt to hold a harmony dinner to-night, but failed miserably, so far as the harmony was concerned. They succeeded only in widening the gap that separates them from the men who last year stood up for honest money and voted against Popocracy. When they be-gan to arrange for the dinner they sought the support and prestige of some prominent Demo-crat, but not one would lend his name to the plan, and finally the young men determined to go it alone. Invitations at $2 each were sent to many of the prominent Democrats of the city, but only two responded, despite the fact that Senator William Daly of Hudson county was advertised to be present and talk harmony In sending out their invitations the Bryanites passed upon the Democracy of all the old men who had stood by their party until it repudiated

As a result all of the prominent Elizabeth Democrats who were invited save two declined to attend, saying they did not intend to permit upstarts to pass upon the quality of their Democracy and of that of men with whom they have fought the party's battles for scores of veges. have fought the party's battles for scores of years.

Several hundred invitations were sent out, and there were about eighty responses. Senator Paly of Hudson county and ex-Congressman John T. Dunn of this city were the only prominent ones present, and the ex-Congressman said he would much rather have finished a game of pinochle he was playing than to have gone upstairs in the botel to the dinner. P. J. Ryan, President of the Elizabeth City Council: Assemblyman John B. Green of Westfield, and Farmer Orator James E. Martine of Plainfield looked lonely and ill at ease among the seventy and odd, the rank and file of Bryanism, around the tables. They, with Senator Daiy, were the principal speakers, and though they talked harmony for three hours, the other diners were as anxious to secure the scalps of the "gold bugs" after the dinner as they had been before it. The committee that arranged the dinner was composed of W. J. Lansley, Samuel Schleimer, and Oliver Conlon, each of whom is a candidate for office to succeed a gold Democrat.
